The use of collection bins to assist your fundraising efforts can be very effective if done properly, professionally and inexpensively.

These can be made from any 'medium-sized' corrugated cardboard boxes:

- Strong enough to not break open when full (2 or 3 corrugations is better than 1)
- Tape the flaps on one end and leave the other end (the end you place on the counter or table) folded in order to retrieve the cell phones
- Make sure that the hole in the top is large enough to allow people to put in a cell phone but not so large that people will be able to take phones out of the box.
